1976 NORTHWESTERN FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

WANTED: The lost catalyst that motivated Northwestern to its strong early season showing in 1975.

Coach John Pont's Wildcats, after five games, held a 3-2 record and were a flawless 2-0 in Big Ten competition. Wins over Purdue in the season opener (31-25) and Indiana (30-0) gave strong indications that Northwestern would be rewarded with a first division finish.

But then misfortune struck the Wildcats. Two narrow defeats to Wisconsin (17-14) and Iowa (24-21) ignited a six game losing streak and tarnished Northwestern's fine start. While the Wildcat record was not what it could have been, Northwestern individual performers were among the league's best and will pool their efforts this year to locate that lost spark.

Greg Boykin, a tailback, and Pete Shaw, a free safety, elected to snub the professional draft and return to Northwestern. The duo, who are both All-American calibre, missed the 1974 season with injuries and are eligible for a red shirt year.

Boykin, a second team All-Big Ten selection, became Northwestern's all-time leading rusher with 2,080 yards. With six games of more than 100 yards, he gained 1,105 in 1975. A consensus all-league choice, Shaw was the Wildcats leading tackler and interceptor. He also received some All-American consideration.

One of the nation's top pass catchers, flanker Scott Yelvington will be looking for his third straight Big Ten receiving crown. A senior, Yelvington has been picked to the All-Big Ten second unit for two years.

Throwing to Yelvington will be quarterback Randy Dean who was the Big Ten's passing runnerup. The senior signal caller is also the Wildcats' punter and maintained a 42.5 average.

Anchoring the defensive line will be Paul Maly, a senior middle guard. The 5-10, 210 pound noseman was the team leader in quarterback sacks and second in tackles with 75.

OFFENSE: Northwestern will continue to utilize the "I" formation featuring the sprint-option capabilities of the quarterback. Two wide receivers, after one season of using two halfbacks, Boykin and the graduated Jim Pooler, will be featured.

In Big Ten statistics, Northwestern finished second in passing (123.4 ypg), eighth in rushing (189.4 ypg) and seventh in total offense (312.7 ypg). A major concern for Coach John Pont was the inability to put points on the scoreboard as the Wildcats averaged only 15.7 points per game (seventh).

The Wildcat offensive punch, with the return of 18 lettermen, including six starters, appears to be strong.

The receiving corps, with Scott Yelvington and junior Mark Bailey teaming at the wideouts, is excellent. The pair caught 50 and 11 aerials respectively last season. Tight end Dan Cleary, a junior, can also catch the football and is regarded as an exceptional blocker.

Spearheading the offensive line is tackle Tony Ardizzone, a junior, and senior center Carl Peterson, a converted guard. The pair were largely responsible for Boykin's running success and will again provide the impetus in the Wildcat ground game.

Highly touted Joe Corona, a sophomore, and senior Don Herzog are the top candidates for the remaining tackle post. Herzog was a regular at the outset of the '75 campaign before being sidelined by a knee injury in the second game, while Corona received two starting assignments as a freshman.

Reinforcing the center position will be Greg Soderberg. The junior letterman has been the primary snapper on punts and placements for two years.

Two juniors, Dan Henderson, who shifted from tackle in the spring, and Rudi Tanck, lead a strong group of guard candidates. Another third year vet, Frank Malec, plus seniors DeWayne Shambley and Jim Foscett are a solid trio who will see substantial playing time. Shambley, after a one year trial as a linebacker, has returned to his original position while Foscett, a two-year starting tackle (73-74) was unable to compete last season because of knee surgery.

Returning for another go-around at quarterback is Randy Dean. Dean, who has a strong arm, is a capable option runner as well. Two sophomores, Scott Stranski and Steve Breitbeil, will compete with junior Tom Oetinger for the reserve roles.

The running attack will feature Greg Boykin at tailback. Juniors Pat Geegan and Sam Rushing, a letterman, will see backup action. Both, however, will serve as return specialists.

At fullback, experience is practically non-existent. Monogram winner Jim Whims, a senior, leads a trio of contenders for the blocking back slot. Junior Matt Reitzug (1:50) and senior Lou Due (0:20), with only 2:10 of playing time between them, will vie for the reserve position.

DEFENSE: Defensive alignment will be of the 5-2 variety with a down middle guard. Defensively, the Wildcats, in Big Ten play, were seventh against the rush (267.6), fifth in passing (96.0), and seventh in total defense (363.3). This was an improvement of 59.4 yards from 1974 when Northwestern finished ninth in total defense in league competition.

Nine starters are among the 26 returning lettermen. Attaining continuity remains the key as in the linebacking and secondary areas, there were five and seven different starting combinations respectively.

In the defensive front five, three positions will be manned by regulars from last season. Two seniors, end Kevin Sprouse and noseman Paul Maly, will team with two-year starter, tackle Marty Szostak, a junior.

At the other tackle spot, Mike Weitzman, who was a freshman letterman and also a heavyweight wrestler, has a slight edge over a senior, Steve Shust. A senior letterman, Gary Ogden, will receive a strong push from another award winner, sophomore Mike Kendzicky, for the other end position.

The linebackers, although a young group, have plenty of experience and most of it in starting roles. The main concern is remaining healthy as only one, Al Benz, could avoid the injury plague to start as many as six contests.

Although both positions are wide open, Benz and Greg Stanley, both juniors, hold a slight advantage. Possessing the most starting experience, each has won letters for two seasons. A trio of veterans who have spot started include junior Lodi Vercelli and sophomores Blaine Ogilvie and Jim Miller.

As with the linebackers, the Wildcat secondary resembled a merry-go-round in the number of personnel who handled starting roles. With the injury bug the cause, 10 different Wildcat backs started at least one time.

Strong Safety Pete Shaw, who shifted from the free safety slot, was the only member of the secondary to start all 11 games and will be the cohesive element in the defensive quartet. A hard hitter and fine punt returner, Shaw will become more effective when a steady foursome in the backfield has developed. He also is the only one to have a regular role clinched.

KICKING GAME: Randy Dean finished 13th nationally and third in the Big Ten (40.8). He had a long punt of 61 yards.

Placekicker Nick Mirkopoulos provides outstanding scoring potential with his right foot. The sophomore sidewinder was 17/18 in PAT's and 6/11 (.545) in field goal attempts, including a 49-yarder with his first collegiate try and one of 54 yards, a Northwestern record.

HOW PONT SEES THE WILDCATS IN '76

"My initial analysis for the upcoming season is a positive one. We have a fine blend of youth and experience which should provide the impetus for an improved record.

"The return of Greg Boykin and Pete Shaw, who elected to opt for their redshirt seasons, will be a tremendous boost to our program. They are two of the finest athletes at their respective positions in the country and are potential All-Americans.

"Our primary strength lies with the talents of our offensive unit. Although only six starters are back, the Big Ten's leading receiver, Scott Yelvington; the passing runnerup, Randy Dean; and the seventh top rusher, Greg Boykin, are among that group. Add to that trio a threesome of fine linemen such as tight end Dan Cleary, tackle Tony Ardizzone, and center Carl Peterson and you have a strong offensive nucleus.

"With a season of experience under its belt, this sextet should be improved this year because the entire group, either because of youth or position changes, were in their first year as starters at their respective positions. Dean, a senior, and juniors Cleary and Ardizzone were receiving their first regular assignments, while Boykin (FB-TB), Yelvington (TE-SE), and Peterson (OT-OG) were starting at new positions.

"We also retain the services of tackle Don Herzog who started the first two games of the year before being sidelined with a knee injury. Two redshirt seniors who were withheld from combat in '75 due to knee rehabilitation will be guard James Foskett and Split end Pat McNamara. Foskett, who was a two-year starter at tackle, will be shifted to guard while McNamara, a two-year letterman, is our fastest wide receiver and will provide us with the deep threat.

"Our kicking game ranks with the best in the league. Randy Dean is one of the finest punters in the country and Nick Mirkopolos gives us long range scoring potential.

"Our defense is a question mark at this time. While we gained from a year ago, there still is much room for improvement. With nine starters back, it would appear that we would have a solid cornerstone from which to build.

"But that number is deceptive because of the few number of games in which some players started. For instance, in our linebacking corps, there were five different players who received starting assignments and composed seven different combinations. No linebacker had more than six starts.

"In the secondary, the same problem occurred. Ten different defensive backs started at least one game of which seven separate combinations were constituted. While only Pete Shaw started all 11 games, no one else garnered more than six starts.

"Injuries were responsible for lack of continuity and spring practice developed the strongest combinations in that area. With this should come an improvement in our defensive alignment.

"A breakdown of the defensive areas reveals that our linebackers and secondary personnel are very young, but experienced. Juniors Al Benz and Greg Stanley, both two-year letterwinners and part-time starters, and sophomore Blaine Ogilvie are the veteran linebackers. In the defensive backfield, Pete Shaw is the mainstay of a group of seasoned lettermen who will form a solid unit.

"The defensive line will be anchored by middle guard Paul Maly who could play for any team. He will be flanked by two experienced starters, tackle Marty Szostak and end Kevin Sprouse.

"If we can jell these three areas with the success in which our offense did last year — and remain healthy — our defense can be a good one. We do have the athletes and necessary skills to be a respectable obstacle for our opponent's offensive plans.

"Admittedly, parts of the puzzle have to fall in place. But if they fit, we will have a good football team."

THE COACHES

THE SQUAD

JOHN PONT

Athletic Director

Head Football Coach

The responsibility for Northwestern's athletic program will be in the capable hands of dynamic John Pont for the fourth year. The 15th man to head the Wildcat athletic department, Pont is only the fifth to hold both head football duties and athletic directorship responsibilities simultaneously.

The progressive and personable Pont, who assumed the directorship duties on September 1, 1974, is in his second year of maintaining both positions. Entering his 21st season as a head coach, the Wildcat mentor enjoys the double duty and "total involvement" of the dual roles.

Pont became the 22nd head football coach at Northwestern in December, 1972. Evanston is the fourth stop of his coaching career after having previously tutored at Miami (O.), Yale, and Indiana.

A native of Canton, Ohio, John, 49, was an all-state guard at Timkin High School. Upon graduation he joined the United States Navy where he spent a two-year stint in the Submarine Service.

After receiving his discharge in 1947, John attended Miami of Ohio where he discarded his lineman's ambitions and acquired the ball carrying skills of a running back and kickoff return artist.

A three-year All-American selection, John earned a place as one of the Redskins' all-time greats as halfback on teams of 1949-51. Playing under Woody Hayes one season and Ara Parseghian for two, he scored 28 touchdowns, and gained 2,390 yards in 340 carries. Both totals were Redskin top marks for over twenty years.

Pont still holds the Miami mark for kickoff returns in one year — 33 for 874 yards. His No. 42 jersey was the first one Miami retired and in 1969, John was one of six charter members inducted into the Miami Hall of Fame.

After graduating from Miami in 1952, John was drafted by the Green Bay Packers. Missing the Packers' final cut, Pont played his only season of professional football with Toronto of the Canadian League. Before the 1953 season, John elected to accept the freshman coaching position at Miami under Parseghian. When Ara moved to Northwestern in 1956, John was named Parseghian's successor.

Miami reaped immediate harvests as John's first Redskin team went 7-1-1. The Redskins in 1957 and 1958 shared Mid-American titles. During his six year stay at Oxford, John compiled a 43-22-2 mark.

Pont was picked by Yale to revive its faltering program in 1963, and responded with a pair of winning campaigns. He guided the Eli's to 6-2-1 and 6-3 marks in a two-year stint in New Haven.

Pont's next rescue call came from the midwest, where Indiana was sending out an SOS in 1965. Although his first two Hoosier teams failed to respond in the usual Pont fashion, the third try proved to be the charm as his "Rags to Riches" team of 1967 captured the attention of the nation.

After two ninth place finishes, Pont's 1967 Cinderella team, in a season of last minute victories, posted a 9-1 mark in winning the Big Ten title.

The Hoosiers, in their first Rose Bowl appearance, bowed to national champion Southern California 14-3 in a hard fought contest.

This outstanding season earned Pont Coach-of-the-Year honors by both coaches and writers in 1967. He also has served as head coach of the East team in the 1968 Coaches All-American game, head coach of the East squad in the 1970 Hula Bowl, and as head coach (1970) and assistant (1968) of the East team in the East-West Shrine Game.

John was Sigma Chi's "Significant Sig" in 1969 and recipient of Indiana's coveted "Sagamore of the Wabash" and Indianapolis sportswriters' "Grand Buffalo" awards. Also, he served as the Indiana Easter Seal chairman in 1968-69 and headed the Indiana Cancer Crusade in 1970.

A coach who considers the education of his athletes to be his primary job, Pont holds a B.A. degree (1952) and an M.S. degree (1956) in education from his alma mater.

John and his wife, Sandy, are the parents of three children, John, 19, Jennifer, 17, and Jeff, 15.

JOHNNY COOKS

Former Northwestern running back Johnny Cooks has rejoined his alma mater and will be in his first year as a Wildcat assistant in charge of the defensive ends.

Johnny, 25, held an identical position with Bowling Green University last season. Prior to the Falcon post, Johnny spent one year at Ball State in a graduate assistant capacity with the Cardinal staff and one season at Indiana State where he coached the offensive backs and receivers.

A 1973 graduate of Northwestern, he was a three-year letterman in football and a starting running back in his final two years with the Wildcats despite being sidelined in both seasons with injuries.

Johnny lettered in both football and track at Western Reserve High School in Warren, Ohio. He was a member of the 880-yard relay team that placed in the state track meet during his junior year.

An All-American and all-state tailback at Hobart, Indiana, Jon attended Indiana University where he received his bachelor's degree in 1967. Harold, 31, attended Indiana and was the center on the Hoosier Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl team in 1967.

Harold returned from a 1966 injury that sidelined him for the entire season to play an integral role in the Hoosier Cinderella season. Previously, he had been a linebacker in the 1964 and 1965 campaigns.

Serving as a student assistant on the Indiana varsity staff, he received his bachelor's degree in physical education and special education in 1968. Ernie went to Ohio State after graduation in 1943 and played football under the legendary Paul Brown. He was later tutored again by Brown at the Great Lakes Naval Station when his career was interrupted by World War II.

Ernie transferred to Miami (O.), after his service stint and was a tackle on the Redskin teams in 1947-49. He was the captain of the 1949 squad on which Pont was a sophomore. Upon graduation from the Oxford institution in 1950 with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Ernie became head football coach and basketball mentor at Grove City High School.

In the next four years prior to arriving at Northwestern, Al was defensive end coach for the Hoosiers. He was in charge of the defensive ends for one season at Northwestern before taking over the linebacker duties in 1974.

A walk-on football candidate with an academic scholarship, Al was a regular defensive end on the 1965 Hoosier team, Pont's first at Indiana. His outstanding play earned him the game ball in a 19-7 win over Kansas State, as well as game captain honors on three occasions.

After graduating from Indiana in 1966 with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Al served as a graduate assistant coach while obtaining his master's degree the next year.

Northwestern University was chartered as an independent (privately controlled) institution of higher education in 1851 and its growth has paralleled the dynamic rise of Chicago, the metropolitan focus of the old Northwest Territory. As one of the principal centers of learning in America, Northwestern is fulfilling the purpose of its founders — to be "a university of the highest order of excellence."

To meet the challenge of education in the modern world, the University has completed the first phase of a long-range development plan to maintain Northwestern as a major center of learning. On the heels of the completed first phase is still another five-year development program whose title indicates the direction Northwestern is taking — "Toward the Eighties" — a program to raise $177 million in the next five years.

The Evanston campus, running a mile along the shoreline of Lake Michigan and bordered on the other three sides by the suburban city of Evanston, contains 170 acres. This is the Home of the College of Arts and Science, the Graduate School, the Technological Institute, and the Schools of Journalism, Music and Speech. Twelve miles south, on a 14 acre lakefront site, is the Chicago campus of the University. On this campus are the School of Law, the Medical School, and Dental School.

Although the number of facilities have rapidly increased, the total enrollment of students have been kept at a comfortable figure. Full time undergraduate enrollment of the Evanston campus is held to approximately 6,500.

DYCHE STADIUM

Dyche Stadium, home of Northwestern's football team, will be celebrating its golden anniversary during the 1976 campaign. Named after William A. Dyche, who was vice president and business manager of the University, the stadium was erected in 1926.

William A. Dyche was in his 23rd year as business manager of the University when the new stadium was built. A graduate of Northwestern, he had served as mayor of Evanston prior to his appointment as business manager in 1903. In 1905, he had been instrumental in construction of the original wooded stands which had a seating capacity of 10,000.

By the early twenties, the popularity of football had outgrown the wooden stands and Mr. Dyche once again spearheaded the planning for a new stadium seating of 45,000 to be erected on the site of the old field. He proposed to the board of trustees that the new stadium be financed by a bond issue. The original estimate of $800,000 soared to $1,425,000 by the time the stadium was completed.

Six months from the day that work started on the stadium, the first game was played. The first concrete was poured May 5, 1926 and on Oct. 2 a crowd of 19,000 attended the opening game of the season with South Dakota in the partially completed stands.

Six weeks later, Nov. 13, 1926, a crowd of 45,000 filled the new structure for the dedication game against Amos Alonzo Stagg's Chicago Maroons, who were heavy favorites.

However, from the opening kickoff which Vic Gustafson returned 90 yards for a touchdown, the Wildcats held the upper hand as they scored a smashing 38-7 victory.

In 1949 the stadium was enlarged by a horseshoe enclosure at the south end to increase seating to 48,500. Overall capacity can be increased to 55,000 by erection of temporary bleachers at the north end. An elevator to the second deck and press box was installed in 1961.

The installation of Tartan Turf plus the addition of an eight lane Tartan track in 1973 were the first phases of total renovation for Dyche Stadium.

Phase two, a concrete conservation project was completed in 1975. The project included sandblasting of the exterior surfaces, patching of weathered spots, and application of a liquid sealer to the outside walls of the stadium.

Other future improvements planned include renovation of the dressing rooms and press box.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME "WILDCATS"

"... football players had not come down from Evanston; Wildcats would be a name better suited to (Coach) Thistlethwaite's boys . . . Stagg's boys, his pride, the eleven that had tied Illinois a week ago, were unable to score for 57 minutes. Once they had the ball on the nine yard line and had been stopped dead by a Purple wall of wildcats."

These lines written by Wallace Abbey in the Chicago Tribune following the memorable Northwestern-Chicago game of 1924 heralded a new era in Northwestern football. From that day on, all Northwestern athletic teams have borne the nickname of "Wildcats."

Following the Chicago game which was lost 3 to 0 on a last minute field goal by Bob Curley, Northwestern met the famed "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame and battled the Irish to a standstill before bowing 13 to 6. Northwestern's points were scored on two drop kicks by All-American Ralph (Moon) Baker. After that there could be no question of the appropriateness of the new nickname.

Years later, Major General Robert H. Wienecke, captain of Northwestern's 1924 team, recalled, "We were just an average team which developed a spirit that carried to superb heights against Chicago and Notre Dame. I feel that the reputation gained by the team in those two final games of the 1924 season launched a momentum that was to lead to the Big Ten championship two years later."

FOOTBALL TROPHIES

"SWEET SIOUX" TOMAHAWK

The winner of the annual Northwestern-Illinois football game gains possession of the "Sweet Sioux" Tomahawk which has been in competition since 1945. When first established, the trophy was an authentic wooden Indian of the type that formerly graced the front of cigar stores throughout the nation. However, the old fellow posed such a transportation problem that he was eventually replaced by the current Tomahawk. Northwestern gained initial possession of the trophy with a 13 to 7 win in 1945.

SHILLELAGH

In 1930, William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, presented a shillelagh to Coach Knute Rockne, famed coach of the University of Notre Dame football team. Coach Rockne proposed that the Shillelagh become a trophy for the annual football game between Notre Dame and Northwestern and the suggestion was readily adopted by the officials of both schools. The trophy was placed in competition for the first time in 1930 when the Irish defeated the Wildcats 14 to 0 in a game that decided the national championship. Both teams entered the game undefeated.
